He thereupon prosured an axe and said there would be le in the house. The policeman arrested him as he stood before the woan's door ready to break it down. When locked up in the station Hunter think he would stay in the station all night. Doorman James Kerrigan made unds at 11.30 o'clock, and Hunter asked for a match. He wanted to smoke

Shortly after midnight when the doorman went to inspect the cells again he found Hunter hanging by a leather strap to the door. He was dead.

He had made a slip-noose of the buckle end of the strap and tied the ether end to an upper bar of the cell door. In order to strangle himself he had to lift his feet clear off the floor.

An ambulance was at once summoned from Gouverneur Hospital, but the surgeon said the man must have been dead ten minutes before he was cut down. It is not known that he has any relatives in the city, and his body was taken to the Morgue.

A MYSTERY OF ST. LOUIS.

Remmert Only Ten Days Dead, bu Missing Since Jan. 1.

ST. LOUIS, June 13 - George Remmert, a porter, disappeared on Jan. 1 after a conversation with his employed body was discovered in the river. The body was discovered in the river. The body had not been in the water over ten days, and the condition of his clothing increases the mystery surrounding his disappearance.

The shoes he wore on the day when he was last seen were almost new, and neither those found on the body nor the other articles of apparel show any signs of increased wear. His friends and the police are mystified as to where he could have been between the date of his disappearance and the time when he fell or was thrown into the river.

who drilled them into saying that they had $23 or more, that they had paid their own fare, and, above all, that they were not hired by anybody to do labor in the United States.

General Agent Vandentoorn, of the Netherlands-American line, laughed at these charges when seen by reporters this morning, and said that Commissioner Senner himself had requested that classes similar to those described in the affidavits should be formed.

"Of course," he added, "the object of these classes is different from what the makers of the affidavits believed them to be. Each immigrant is labelled with a tag group he belongs. The tags correspond with the numbers on the manifest, and, no doubt it was this point that gave rise to the misapprehension on the part of the makers of the affidavits.

"The manifest, which is filled out by the United States Consul at the point of departure, contains the very questions which Boyle and Lee say they head the departure, contains the very questions which Boyle and Lee say they heard the immigrants conched in. These questions were probably merely repeated from the manifest in the course of instructing the immigrants to keep together in their respective groups." apt. Warts Thought to Be Dying. Police Capt. "Billy" Edwards, of Hoffman House fame, is rusticating at Saratoga, quite alive and enjoying capital health. He is accustomed to reading of his own death, it having been reported early in March last that "Billy" had died at Hot Springs, Ark., as a result of injuries received by being thrown from a carriage.

The cowboy Edwards, of Montclair, was one of three vicious brothers who had been the terror of the residents of Montclair for some months.

Early Monday morning a hot row started in the house of "Old" Farrell, in Montclair. Bob and Bill Edwards married the Farrell girls and lived with the father-iniaw. The police were summoned, and Policemen Duniap, Rudden and Perrin went to quell the battle.

They were attacked by the trio of desperate cowboys, and Duniap and Rudden were badly used up.

Rudden succeeded in drawing his revolver, and he fired twice at Billy Edwards, both shots taking effect. engers to reach here from the East since the
